—An issue of the Columbus Dispatch produced a picture of Ralph H. Lutz, professor of history at The Leland Stanford university of California. Also that of the Republican nominee for president, Herbert Hoover. The latter has been instrumental in securing valuable collection of books for the library of the university. Professor Lutz has made a number of trips to Washington D. C., at Secretary Hoover's request, and has secured a number of valuable volumes for the library. Mr. Lutz is a son of Harry E. Lutz, at one time publisher and editor of The Daily Union-Herald. His mother was Mrs. Florence Haswell Lutz, a sister of James C. Haswell of the Haswell Furnace Co., of this city.

WINDS DELAY HUNT FOR YOUTH'S BODY

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 20.—High waves caused by yesterday's windstorm, delayed today search for the body of Gordon Thatcher, 10, drowned in the Ohio river at Manchester when he leaped from a cliff.

Playmates saw Thatcher climb into the skiff and pushed it into the river. The boy, discovering there were no oars in the craft, leaped into the river, a witness said.

At New Boston, near here, about 50 persons attending a revival meeting were buried for a short time under canvas when the wind blew down the tent in which the service was being conducted.

In this city parts of the roofs of four homes were blown away.

Planks Of Democratic Platform Already Being Layed

COOPERATION WITH LEAGUE TO BE URGED

Redefinition Of Monroe Doctrine Promised, With Latin Intervention Opposed

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Intervention in Latin-American countries will be denounced, a redefinition of the Monroe Doctrine will be promised, and closer co-operation with the League of Nations will be urged in the platform which the Democrats are expected to adopt at their national convention in Houston next week, the United Press was informed today.

Foremost of the foreign relations planks, according to this information, will be one promising that the Monroe Doctrine will be revamped, restoring it to the form and import President Monroe gave it. The rejuvenated doctrine would affirm anew the determination of the United States to prevent European countries from acquiring territory in South America, but at the same time make it clear that the doctrine will not be used as a cloak for encroachments by the United States on South American sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Ways and means of increasing American co-operation with the League will be discussed in another plank, although the platform will probably be silent on the question of American membership in the Geneva body. The Democrats will also urge that steps be taken to obtain an agreement with other nations under which the United States could join the world court on an acceptable basis.

Further reduction of naval armaments will be advocated, it was declared, although the platform will advise against holding any other naval conference until adequate diplomatic preparations can be made. It has been charged that the Coolidge conference in Geneva last July failed because the administration neglected to sound out Great Britain and Japan in advance.

Universal peace, the platform is expected to say, can not be had until all nations feel secure and this sense of security depends upon the existence of a practical system of arbitration treaties and other means for peacefully settling international disputes. The Democrats, therefore, suggest that the United States extend its arbitration pacts to all countries and in general broaden the scope of these treaties.

Under Democratic leadership, the platform will probably say, the United States will refrain from intervening in the internal affairs of Latin-American countries.

Withdrawal of the marines from Nicaragua immediately after a stable government has been set up will be promised in another plank, which may also declare that the Democrats oppose the landing of marines in Nicaragua or elsewhere because of hypothetical danger to American property.

Pomerene Calls On Al Smith And Rumors Fall Fast

NEW YORK, June 20.—U. P.—Former Senator Al Pomerene of Ohio, who will receive that state's 18 votes on the first ballot as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, visited Governor Smith at the Biltmore hotel and started rumors that Ohio's entire vote would be pledged to the New York governor.

After the conference with Smith Pomerene insisted he had not been talking politics and did not know to whom the Ohio vote would be given after the first ballot.

Pomerene was the only candidate on the Democratic primary presidential ticket in Ohio. Under the state law he must receive the vote of the full delegation on the first ballot.

Thomas F. Jeffries Is Honored; Named On Tax Committee

Thomas F. Jeffries, vice president of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce received a deserved recognition Tuesday at a meeting of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Some 80 representatives of the state, representing the members of the Chamber of Commerce were present.

Of this number 20 were selected as a committee to draft a new taxation bill to be presented to the next session of the legislature.

Mr. Jeffries talk on the subject convinced the members that he knew and had given the subject deep thought and was conversant with the subject that the meeting had under discussion.

He was one of those selected.

STOCK BUYER IS HELD TO GRAND JURY FOR THEFT

Clark Grabill Arrested At Five Points When Stolen Wool Found

Clark Grabill was placed under arrest Tuesday at his home in Five Points and was brought to this city by Sheriff Frank Davis and Deputies Carl Porter and John G. Ward, Jr.

The prisoner was charged with concealing stolen property to the value of $125.

He had a hearing before Justice Strawser, waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $1,000.

In default he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

The theft in which it is alleged that the prisoner was mixed up with was committed only recently. It is alleged 25 fleeces of wool sheared by A. W. Mannick at Derby were stolen from his barn. The wool was discovered missing by his son-in-law, Harry Vincent.

A search was made and it was finally located in a garage at Five Points, which was rented by Clark Grabill. The wool was stored back of a car owned by the proprietor, it is said.

Mr. Grabill is a stock buyer.

SCIOTO RIVER IS RAISING AT RATE OF FOOT AN HOUR

Bridge Tender Says Corn Bottom Lands Will All Be Flooded Soon

The Scioto river at noon Wednesday was raising at the rate of one foot an hour, according to "Dude" Stottlemire, bridge tender, and indications are all the bottom lands will be flooded before nightfall.

To just what extent the flood will occur, Mr. Stottlemire said he could not tell, but water is still coming down the river from Columbus and all morning the river had been raising at the rate of a foot an hour.

Some of the lowland corn land has already been flooded and will be damaged.

The weather forecast bureau has announced that rains will continue Wednesday and Thursday yet.

The river during the night rose seven feet, six inches, filling up its bed and backing up into the lowlands. It is still rising and may flood the first bottoms. In the past 24 hours Dr. Clarke, the weather observer reports that we have had one inch and 42 hundredths of an inch of rainfall.

BANK CASHIER ENDS LIFE: FUNDS ARE O. K.

SIDNEY, O., June 20.—Officials of the Citizens National Bank today were puzzled over the suicide last night of Edward F. Meade, 35 years assistant cashier. Meade shot himself to death in the bathroom of his home.

His accounts were reported in good condition and no reason can be assigned for his act. He leaves his widow and two sons.

NEW $50,000 PACKING FIRM TO BE OPENED

Circleville Business, Opening June 25, Is Monument To Work Of Charles Smith

The new $50,000 Hosler Packing Plant, which has been under construction for nearly four months, will be thrown open for inspection Monday, June 25. The old building was completely destroyed by fire Oct. 5, 1927, causing an irreparable loss. After the insurance was adjusted, the owner of the old plant, Charles H. Smith, saw that it was useless to repair the old building and tore it down completely and now has built an entire new plant on ground adjoining the old buildings.

The Hosler Packing Company was a going institution back in 1900, and since the death of W. R. Hosler, its president, it has changed ownership several times. About 20 years ago, a young man, Charles H. Smith, began to deliver meats and later clerk in the meat market of the Hosler Packing Company then located in the city building. Whether he had ambition of some day becoming the head and owner of the concern is not known, but if he did, his dream has come true. By strict attendance to business, he managed to become the head of the most modern packing plant in Southern Ohio.

Back over the hill along Hargus creek at the head of High-st., is located an institution that this city may well feel proud of.

The new building in dimension, is 105 feet long by 50 feet wide, and is divided into a number of rooms. Brine spray system is used in refrigeration, this is known as the driest way of refrigeration.

Clear and hygienic water is obtained from a well 135 feet deep. Below the refrigeration room is a tank 54 inches deep, 17 feet long and 8 feet wide. This tank contains 2,400 feet of one and a quarter inch pipe. A centrifugal pump forces the ammonia through these pipes, cooling the atmosphere to within 18 degrees of zero.

The stock storage room is 8 by 20 feet, the beef storage room is 23 by 11 feet and the pickling room is 33 by 11 feet.

There is a cellar beneath the refrigeration rooms. The floors of the cold storage rooms are four inches thick and are of cork laid in hot asphalt. This is covered with a coating of cement.

The walls are constructed in such a way that they are practically sweat proof, and the air is dry instead of damp in the refrigerating rooms.

The sausage kitchen is 20 by 30 feet, the casing room is 10 by 15 feet, the boiler room is 15 by 15 feet, the killing room is 40 by 40 feet. The room where lard is pressed and refined is 20 by 15 feet. The hide room is 12 by 12 feet.

The shipping room is 21 by 29 feet and the office is a room 12 feet square.

Overhead rails are used, and fresh meats are run into the refrigeration rooms, shortly after the carcass is dressed and thoroughly washed. After it is thoroughly cooled out it is taken into the storage room.

One thing the owner of the plant decided on in the new building, with an eye to hygienic construction, the floors of the entire plant can be washed by his own.

"SOUTHERN CROSS" TO FLY BACK HOME

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, June 20.—American members of the crew of the transatlantic Southern Cross, which recently arrived here at the end of a 14-day flight across the Pacific ocean, intend to fly from England to the United States.

Lieutenant Harry Lyon, who was navigator of the Southern Cross, announced today he and James Warner, radio operator, would ask Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, pilot of the Southern Cross, to take them on the transatlantic flight.

Deny Pope Is Ill

When Il Brillante, Fascist newspaper, published a report that Pope Pius was severely ill with arterio sclerosis, His Holiness not only caused Vatican officials to issue an emphatic denial, but further dispelled anxiety by granting one of the largest audiences of his reign. The above autographed picture, one of the Holy Father's latest, gives an excellent idea as to his present condition.

MILLION LOSS TO PROPERTY AS GALE HITS

Middlewest Swept By Winds Of Cyclonic Velocity; Crops Also Damaged

CHICAGO, June 20.—Rain and electrical storms, accompanied by winds of near cyclonic velocity, swept over the middlewest last night.

Damage to property and crops in Illinois and Indiana, it was estimated, would reach $1,000,000.

Five persons were known dead, and reports of injuries received in various sections were numerous.

Four employees of Indiana University were killed at Bloomington, Ind., when lightning struck a tree on the university grounds under which they had sought shelter during an electrical storm. They were Otto Hacker, 50; his brother, Thomas, 53; James Holt, 26, and Kenneth Decker, 41.

Donald Thomas, 19, colored, was killed by lightning near Newark, O., and in three Ohio communities more than 20 persons were reported injured by debris carried along by high winds.

Lightning struck in five places in Chicago, although the maximum wind velocity recorded was 17 miles an hour. More than 40 people were received by the fire department by residents alarmed by the electrical disturbances.

Northwest and southwest winds came together at Quincy, Ill., causing heavy property damage. The velocity of the gale was estimated at 65 m.p.h. in hour. Automobiles standing in the streets, washed away by the flood of water which poured through the main thoroughfares. Power and lights were cut off for four hours.

A window in the state capital building at Springfield, Ill., was blown in and several members of the House of Representatives in session were injured by the wind.

BANDIT IS SHOT

CLEVELAND, O., June 20.—A bandit whose name was withheld, was shot by J. W. Munger, Nickle Plate, railroad detective, last night, while attempting to rob a freight car. Munger said he fired upon the man and a companion ignored his command to halt. The second man surrendered.

CONTRACT FOR NEW THEATRE IS AWARDED

Lancaster Firm Gets Job To Build New $100,000 Circleville Showhouse

Contracts for Circleville's new theatre were let Wednesday by Harry E. Clifton, the builder, the main building part of the new show house going to the firm of A. B. Van Gundy and W. J. Beck of Lancaster.

It is now estimated the new theatre, which will seat 800, will cost $100,000, or $20,000 more than was originally planned.

Plans and specifications are on file at the office of the Clifton Auto Sales Co., on W. Main-st.

The plans and specifications were drawn up by Harry C. Holbrook of 39 W. Broad-st., Columbus.

The following awards were made Tuesday: Building to A. B. Van Gundy and W. J. Beck of the firm of Van Gundy and Beck, Lancaster; plumbing and heating to Edward Crist. All electrical work such as wiring and lighting fixtures was awarded to The Moffitt Electric Co. Other contracts such as painting and decorating will be made later.

The completion of the building, ready for occupancy, will be Sept. 30, giving only three and a half months in which to finish the theatre.

One of the novel features of this new theatre is its heating plant, which will also be used as its cooling plant. The device used is to keep the interior as cool and pleasant in hot weather, as it will be warm and comfortable in cold weather.

Every detail of comfort for patrons of the theatre has been taken care of. Rest rooms for both men and women will be installed. The seating of the new building will be as modern and as luxurious as any city theatre.

The building will be of ample proportions, and will be built of buff faced pressed brick. The ceiling of the theatre will be built in Spanish style, and the eye will be relieved of the usual plain surface effect which was the style some 50 years ago.

The entrance to the theatre will be beautiful if present plans are carried out to the letter. A marquis will be built out over the front of the building. The entrance will be laid in tile, the base of the vestibule will be sided with water melon green Verde antique marble with a dado of stripped Brocade. The ticket booth will be finished in the same style. The entrance floor will be finished in white or pink Tennessee marble. The estimated cost of the ground and building is now $100,000. The building will have a tile roof.

Mrs. Crites Gives Her Own Blood To Help Twin Sister

Mrs. George Crites of Circleville, underwent a blood transfusion Tuesday night at Madison, Ind., hospital, giving a pint of blood to her sister, Mrs. Lee Yunker who was operated upon for peritonitis that same night. Mrs. Yunkers is desperately ill, but she now has a chance for recovery.

Mrs. Crites and Mrs. Goeller went to Madison on Sunday when the operation of Mrs. Yunker seemed hopeless.

OHIO TO RECEIVE MORE RAIN, REPORT

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Little relief from the wind and rain which has ruled in central and southern Ohio during the last two days was predicted today by the United States weather bureau here.

However, it is not expected there will be another cyclone or serious electrical storm, but the weather will continue rainy and high winds are to be expected, the bureau reported.

More rain and possibly thunder showers were predicted for today.

Wins Gold Medal

She is the proudest girl in Washington, is pretty Sylvia Dane, twenty-two-year-old secretary of Representative Carroll L. Beedy, of Portland, Me., and there's a reason for it. She won the Hurst gold medal awarded annually to the junior at the National University Law School making the highest average. Miss Dane's was 97. (Wherefore the medal and the smile.)

TWO CHAMBERS MEET HERE IN REAL SESSION

Circleville Entertains Amanda Commerce Body; Entertainers Please

The Chamber of Commerce was host to the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Amanda Tuesday night.

The visiting members were treated to two feasts, the first given for the upkeep of the body, the second, a literary treat for their mind.

Both towns had stars in the literary world. Amanda brought over that peerless country preacher, Rev. J. Lutz, and the local body produced Mrs. Thomas A. Renick (Frances Boecher) who is by far the peer of elocutionists in this county. While Ross-co. lays claim to her activity, Pickaway is the county of her adoption and this city is her home.

Mrs. Renick's declamations, recitation and readings delighted her big audience and she was the star and headliner of the evening.

Lee T. Shaner, chairman of the entertainment committee, called on Mayor Hedges, who welcomed the visitors to the city in a few well chosen words. He was followed by the Mayor Dr. O. H. Bope. Although a veterinarian he should have been something else, as he has the bit of an enthusiast in his soul, and praised his little village to the skies. He said Amanda had no limits, and it was one of the best towns in Fairfield-co. barring none, not even the county-seat, Lancaster.

Other members of the Amanda Chamber of Commerce who spoke were E. H. Webb, Homer Galt, Rev. J. Lutz, C. J. Nolle, W. E. Bowers, C. E. Johnson, J. E. Alspaugh, C. E. Valentine and Lloyd Dickson. The last named is the president of the Amanda Chamber of Commerce.

The entertainment was more of a social nature than that of a business.

DOVER, O., June 20.—Fire Chief W. B. Base and John Newland, a municipal light plant electrician, will ride tandem on a motorcycle to Yellowstone National Park to spend their vacation. They will start Saturday.

OHIO SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN RULING

Bootleg King Will Be Released Today From Criminal Hospital At Lima

(BULLETIN)
LIMA, O., June 20.—George Remus was freed from the Lima State hospital for the insane this afternoon. He will return to his former home in Cincinnati immediately.

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—The state supreme court today released George Remus, who killed his wife Imogene, at Cincinnati last year, from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Lima, O. Remus was acquitted of the murder of his wife by the Hamilton-co. common pleas court on the grounds of insanity. He was sent to Lima hospital for the criminal insane by the Hamilton-co. probate court.

The Allen-co. court of appeals granted him a writ of habeas corpus and the supreme court stayed the release pending a review on which the issue upon which the decision was made was whether anyone other than the superintendent of the state hospital can order the release of a person formerly declared insane by a court.

Dr. Vorbeau, superintendent of the asylum, described Remus as "psychopathic, dangerous, and a menace to society," and insisted he was not cured sufficiently to warrant his release.

The decision of the court read in part:

"One who is acquitted of murder on the sole ground of insanity, and who has been committed to the Lima state hospital for the insane is not deprived from thereafter seeking a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of showing that he is sane and therefore unlawfully restrained of his liberty."

The syllabus of the four to three decision of the supreme court follows:

1.—One who is acquitted of murder on the sole ground of insanity and who has been committed to the Lima state hospital for the insane is not deprived from thereafter seeking a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of showing that he is sane and therefore unlawfully restrained of his liberty.

2.—Section 1998, General Code (98 O. L. 240) authorizing the superintendent of such institution to discharge such inmate who "in his judgment" is recovered, etc., does not preclude the inmate from applying to a court of competent jurisdiction for a determination of his sanity, to a tribunal which is empowered to use its processes and to hear sworn testimony upon that issue.

3.—The verdict of acquittal on the grounds of insanity is prima facie evidence of the inmate's insanity, and the presumption of insanity thereafter continues, and in order to obtain his release from such hospital, by writ of habeas corpus, the inmate has the burden of removing that presumption and of establishing with reasonable certainty his sanity.

4.—The fact that the probate court, pursuant to Section 15512, General Code, had previously ordered the commitment of the inmate to such hospital and error had been prosecuted from such order, constitutes no bar to a subsequent application for a writ of habeas corpus where the sanity or insanity of the inmate at the later period may be determined by the court.

NEW $50,000 PACKING FIRM TO BE OPENED

Circleville Business, Opening June 25, Is Monument To Work Of Charles Smith

The new $50,000 Hosler Packing Plant, which has been under construction for nearly four months, will be thrown open for inspection Monday, June 25. The old building was completely destroyed by fire Oct. 5, 1927, causing an irreparable loss. After the insurance was adjusted, the owner of the old plant, Charles H. Smith, saw that it was useless to repair the old building, and tore it down completely and now has built an entire new plant on ground adjoining the old buildings.

The Hosler Packing Company was a going institution back in 1900, and since the death of W. R. Hosler, its president, it has changed ownership several times. About 20 years ago, a young man, Charles H. Smith, began to deliver meats and later clerk in the meat market of the Hosler Packing Company then located in the city building. Whether he had ambition of some day becoming the head and owner of the concern is not known, but if he did, his dream has come true. By strict attendance to business, he managed to become the head of the most modern packing plant in Southern Ohio.

Back over the hill along Hargus creek at the head of High-st. is located an institution that this city may well feel proud of.

The new building in dimension, is 105 feet long by 50 feet wide, and is divided into a number of rooms. Brine spray system is used in refrigeration, this is known as the driest way of refrigeration.

Clear and hygienic water is obtained from a well 135 feet deep. Below the refrigeration room is a tank 54 inches deep, 17 feet long and 8 feet wide. This tank contains 2,400 feet of one and a quarter inch pipe. A centrifugal pump forces the ammonia through these pipes, cooling the atmosphere to within 18 degrees of zero.

The stock storage room is 8 by 20 feet, the beef storage, 20 by 12 feet, the hog chill room, is 23 by 11 feet and the pickling room is 33 by 11 feet.

There is a cellar beneath the refrigeration rooms. The floors of the cold storage rooms are four inches thick and are of cork laid in hot asphalt. This is covered with a coating of cement.

The walls are constructed in such a way that they are practically sweat proof, and the air is dry instead of damp in the refrigeration rooms.

The sausage kitchen is 30 by 30 feet, the casing room is 10 by 15 feet, the boiler room is 15 by 15 feet, the killing room is 40 by 40 feet. The room where lard is pressed and refined is 20 by 15 feet. The hide room is 12 by 12 feet.

The shipping room is 21 by 29 feet and the office is a room 12 feet square.

Overhead rails are used, and fresh meats are run into the refrigeration rooms, shortly after the carcass is dressed and thoroughly washed. After it is thoroughly cooled out it is taken into the storage room.

One thing the owner of the plant decided on in the new building, with an eye to hygienic construction, the floors of the entire plant can be washed by his own

"SOUTHERN CROSS" TO FLY BACK HOME

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, June 20.—American members of the crew of the monoplane, Southern Cross, which recently arrived here at the end of a 7,800-mile flight across the Pacific ocean, intend to fly from England to the United States.

Lieutenant Harry Lyon, who was navigator of the Southern Cross, announced today he and James Warner, radio operator, would ask Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, pilot of the Southern Cross, to take them on the trans-Atlantic flight.

Deny Pope Is Ill

When Il Brillante, Facist newspaper, published a report that Pope Pius was severely ill with arterio sclerosis, His Holiness not only caused Vatican officials to issue an emphatic denial, but further dispelled anxiety by granting one of the largest audiences of his reign. The above autographed picture, one of the Holy Father's latest, gives an excellent idea as to his present condition.

MILLION LOSS TO PROPERTY AS GALE HITS

Middlewest Swept By Winds Of Cyclonic Velocity; Crops Also Damaged

CHICAGO, June 20.—Rain and electrical storms, accompanied by winds of near cyclonic velocity, swept over the middlewest last night.

Damage to property and crops in Illinois and Indiana, it was estimated, would reach $1,000,000.

Five persons were known dead, and reports of injuries received in various sections were numerous.

Four employees of Indiana University were killed at Bloomington, Ind., when lightning struck a tree on the university grounds under which they had sought shelter during an electrical storm. They were Otto Hacker, 50; his brother, Thomas, 53; James Holt, 26, and Kenneth DeKard, 41.

Donald Thomas, 10, colored, was killed by lightning near Newark, O., and in three Ohio communities more than 20 persons were reported injured by debris carried along by high winds.

Lightning struck in five places in Chicago, although the maximum wind velocity recorded was 17 miles an hour. More than 40 calls were received by the fire department by residents alarmed by the electrical disturbances.

Northwest and southwest winds came together at Quincy, Ill., causing heavy property damage. The velocity of the gale was estimated at 65 miles an hour. Automobiles standing in the streets washed away by the flood of water which poured through the main thoroughfares. Power and lights were cut off for four hours.

A window in the state capitol building at Springfield, Ill., was blown in and several members of the House of Representatives in session were drenched by the rain.

BANDIT IS SHOT

CLEVELAND, O., June 20.—A bandit whose name was withheld, was shot by J. W. Muntz, a Nickle Plate railroad detective, last night, while attempting to rob a freight car. Muntz said he fired after the man and a companion ignored his command to halt. The second man surrendered.

CONTRACT FOR NEW THEATRE IS AWARDED

Lancaster Firm Gets Job To Build New $100,000 Circleville Showhouse

Contracts for Circleville's new theatre were let Wednesday by Harry E. Clifton, the builder, the main building part of the new show house going to the firm of A. B. Van Gundy and W. J. Beck of Lancaster.

It is now estimated the new theatre, which will seat 800, will cost $100,000, or $20,000 more than was originally planned.

Plans and specifications are on file at the office of the Clifton Auto Sales Co., on W. Main-st.

The plans and specifications were drawn up by Harry C. Holbrook of 39 W. Broad-st., Columbus.

The following awards were made Tuesday: Building to A. B. Van Gundy and W. J. Beck of the firm of Van Gundy and Beck, Lancaster; plumbing and heating to Edward Crist. All electrical work such as wiring and lighting fixtures was awarded to The Moffitt Electric Co. Other contracts such as painting and decorating will be made later.

The completion of the building, ready for occupancy, will be Sept. 30, giving only three and a half months in which to finish the theatre.

One of the novel features of this new theatre is its heating plant, which will also be used as its cooling plant. The device used is to keep the interior as cool and pleasant in hot weather, as it will be warm and comfortable in cold weather.

Every detail of comfort for patrons of the theatre has been taken care of. Rest rooms for both men and women will be installed. The seating of the new building will be as modern and as luxurious as any city theatre.

The building will be of ample proportions, and will be built of buff faced pressed brick. The ceiling of the theatre will be built in Spanish style, and the eye will be relieved of the usual plain surface effect which was the style some 50 years ago.

The entrance to the theatre will be beautiful if present plans are carried out to the letter. A marquise will be built out over the front of the building. The entrance will be laid in tile, the base of the vestibule will be sided with water melon green Verde-antique marble with a dado of stripped Brocardillo. The ticket booth will be finished in the same style. The entrance floor will be finished in white or pink Tennessee marble. The estimated cost of the ground and building is now $100,000. The building will have a tile roof.

Mrs. Crites Gives Her Own Blood To Help Twin Sister

Mrs. George Crites of Circleville, underwent a blood transfusion Tuesday night at Madison, Ind., hospital, giving a pint of blood to her sister, Mrs. Lee Yunker who was operated upon for peritonitis that same night. Mrs. Yunkers is desperately ill, but she now has a chance for recovery.

Mrs. Crites and Mrs. Goeller went to Madison on Sunday when the condition of Mrs. Yunker seemed hopeless.

OHIO TO RECEIVE MORE RAIN, REPORT

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Little relief from the wind and rain which has ruled in central and southern Ohio during the last two days was predicted today by the United States weather bureau here.

However, it is not expected there will be another cyclone or serious electrical storm, but the weather will continue rainy and high winds are to be expected, the bureau reported.

More rain and possibly thunder showers were predicted for today.

Wins Gold Medal

She is the proudest girl in Washington, is pretty Sylvia Dane, twenty-two-year-old secretary of Representative Carroll L. Beedy, of Portland, Me., and there's a reason for it. She won the Hurst gold medal awarded annually to the junior at the National University Law School making the highest average. Miss Dane's was 97.

TWO CHAMBERS MEET HERE IN REAL SESSION

Circleville Entertains Amanda Commerce Body; Entertainers Please

The Chamber of Commerce was host to the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Amanda Tuesday night.

The visiting members were treated to two feasts, the first given for the upkeep of the body, the second, a literary treat for their mind.

Both towns had stars in the literary world. Amanda brought over that peerless country preacher, Rev. J. Lutz, and the local body produced Mrs. Thomas A. Renick (Frances Boecher) who is by far the peer of elocutionists in this county. While Ross-co, lays claim to her nativity, Pickaway is the county of her adoption and this city is her home.

Mrs. Renick's declamations, recitation and readings delighted her big audience and she was the star and headliner of the evening.

Lee T. Shaner, chairman of the entertainment committee, called on Mayor Hedges, who welcomed the visitors to the city in a few well chosen words. He was followed by the Mayor Dr. O. H. Bope. Although a veterinarian he should have been something else, as he has the bit of an enthusiast in his soul, and praised his little village to the skies. He said Amanda had no limits, and it was one of the best towns in Fairfield-co, barring none, not even the county-seat, Lancaster.

Other members of the Amanda Chamber of Commerce who spoke were; E. H. Webb, Elmer Welch, Rev. J. Lutz, C. J. Nolte, W. E. Bowers, C. G. Johnson, J. E. Alspaugh, C. E. Valentine and Lloyd Dickson. The last named is the president of the Amanda Chamber of Commerce.

The entertainment was more of a social nature than that of a business.

WHO WANTS TO GO?

DOVER, O., June 20.—Fire Chief W. B. Bose and John Newland, a municipal light plant electrician, will ride tandem on a motorcycle to Yellowstone National Park to spend their vacation. They will start Saturday.

OHIO SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN RULING

Bootleg King Will Be Released Today From Criminal Hospital At Lima

(BULLETIN)
LIMA, O., June 20.—George Remus was freed from the Lima State hospital for the insane this afternoon. He will return to his former home in Cincinnati immediately.

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—The state supreme court today released George Remus, who killed his wife Imogene, at Cincinnati last year, from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Lima, O.

Remus was acquitted of the murder of his wife by the Hamilton-co. common pleas court on the grounds of insanity. He was sent to Lima hospital for the criminal insane by the Hamilton-co. probate court.

The Allen-co. court of appeals granted him a writ of habeas corpus and the supreme court stayed the release pending a review on which the issue upon which the decision was made was whether anyone other than the superintendent of the state hospital can order the release of a person formerly declared insane by a court.

Dr. Vorbeke, superintendent of the asylum, described Remus as "psychopathic, dangerous, and a menace to society," and insisted he was not cured sufficiently to warrant his release.

The decision of the court read in part:

"One who is acquitted of murder on the sole ground of insanity and who has been committed to the Lima state hospital for the insane is not deprived from thereafter seeking a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of showing that he is sane and therefore unlawfully restrained of his liberty."

The syllabus of the four to three decision of the supreme court follows:

1.—One who is acquitted of murder on the sole ground of insanity and who has been committed to the Lima state hospital for the insane is not deprived from thereafter seeking a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of showing that he is sane and therefore unlawfully restrained of his liberty.

2.—Section 1998, General Code (98 O. L., 240) authorizing the superintendent of such institution to discharge such inmate who "in his judgment" is recovered, etc., does not preclude the inmate from applying to a court of competent jurisdiction for a determination of his sanity,—to a tribunal which is empowered to use its processes and to hear sworn testimony upon that issue.

3.—The verdict of acquittal on the grounds of insanity is prima facie evidence of the inmate's insanity, and the presumption of insanity thereafter continues, and in order to obtain his release from such hospital, by writ of habeas corpus, the inmate has the burden of removing that presumption and of establishing with reasonable certainty his sanity.

4.—The fact that the probate court, pursuant to Section 13612, General Code, had previously ordered the commitment of the inmate to such hospital and error had been prosecuted from such order, constitutes no bar to a subsequent application for a writ of habeas corpus where the sanity or insanity of the inmate at the later period may be determined by the court.

LUTHERANS MEET

DAYTON, O., June 20.—Delegates from all parts of the Miami valley were arriving today for the 29th annual Lutheran Sunday school convention which opened today with Rev. Simon Long, of Piqua, presiding at the morning session.

Rev. R. E. Gooladay, of Columbus, will address the convention tonight.

Moving Of Old Land Mark For New Theatre Recalls Pinkney-st 50 Years Ago

Prominent Citizens Have Always Lived On Thorofare; Tragedy Befell It, Too

By HARRY E. WELLS.

The moving of the old landmark on Pinkney-st. to make room for the new movie theater, has brought up a flood of reminiscences of the street on which this old house was located.

Seventy years ago the street was named after the northeast section of the circle was squared. The southwest portion of the circle was squared in 1838, 11 years afterwards. In 1849, the northeast portion of the circle was laid out. There was a jog in the plan. The area of the block between Main and N. High-st. was too large, and a street one block long was decided on. A street running through from Scioto to Court-st. was made in the blue print, and it was named after the Vice-President, Charles A. Pinkney who shared the office with President James Madison, back in 1808.

The letter C, was dropped when the new street signs were put up and the mistake has never been corrected.

The street was a sea of mud when it rained, as there was no storm water sewer put in until it was paved. This was done in 1913, and both storm and sanitary sewers were put in to correct the trouble.

In the past 50 years the street has become considerable of a thoroughfare, nearly every occupant on the street, have become lot owners, and it is one of the city's best residence streets.

Starting at the corner of Court and Pinkney, the building now occupied by the Citizens Telephone office, was built by William E. Thrall, at one time owner of the Union-Herald. Following the death of his wife, Mr. Thrall sold the building to Sewell Nightengale, father of Mrs. O. H. Dunton.

Mrs. Sophia Crouse, widow of Nelson Crouse, and an aunt of Mrs. L. B. James occupied the house for a few years. Dr. L. C. Vernon and family also occupied the residence. It finally became the property of Lyman Hoffman Sr., and he sold it to the telephone company.

The house which was moved away last week was owned by Philo Rodgers, father of Mrs. James Baldwin. It became the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Morris, foster parents of Mrs.

Irwin Boggs; Philip Warner owned the next house. This home was occupied also by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Van Houten for a number of years. It is now owned by Mrs. W. E. Pickens.

T. K. Brunner owned the next house west. It was purchased some few years ago by Geo. Presler. Bernard Kathe, a furniture dealer, owned the next two story frame. It was sold to W. H. Pontious, who erected the present beautiful house thereon. The next two houses across the alley were owned and occupied by Joseph Howard and family. The frame on the alley was occupied by a Mrs. Pierce for a number of years. The next house to the Howard home was built by William Morris, member of the distilling firm of Morris, Steeley and Company, and in later years was occupied by William Bolin and his sister, Miss Joseph Haswell and family, and later ex-Mayor Geo. R. Haswell and family. The building was sold to T. O. Gilliland, who removed and replaced it with a more modern house.

Charles E. Morris built the next house, now occupied by Miss Gertrude Gearhart. The corner house facing Scioto-st. was built by Henry N. Hedges, Jr. Here lived George Gearhart for a number of years and later, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Radcliffe. This house is now owned by Oscar Howard.

Across the street on the north side of Pinkney facing Scioto is the beautiful French Chateau, occupied by Dr. H. Demuth Jackson and family. This site was owned by his grandfather, Henry Demuth. George Gregg and family also resided in this house for a number of years.

Across the alley was the home of Mrs. Sarah Gephart, great-grandmother of Postmaster George P. Foreman, with her resided three daughters, Misses Catharine, Susan and Ann. The house later came into the hands of Lyman Hoffman, her son-in-law.

The next house east was owned and occupied by William Bauder and family. Wesley McCollister owned and occupied the next house. Colonel H. H. Sage, the eccentric jeweler occupied the adjacent house, a brick. On this site the present modern home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Mader stands. Joseph Parkhurst and family occupied the lot on the alley. Later the family of James Duffy lived there.

The site was purchased by Miss Morris who erected a two story brick, and after a residence there for a number of years, sold it to Professor and Mrs. M. C. Warren. The next three houses east of the alley were owned by William Ensworth, John Brunner and Jess D. Ward. The house across the alley, now owned by Walker Baughman was built by Mrs. Mary S. Florence. This house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stevenson.

The site on which the Grand Opera house stands, was originally owned by Keith Foreman. The family of Jason Case also lived here. In later years John McCrady and family occupied the old corner.

Pinkney-st. was always considered the quality street by its residents, and even today it is occupied by people of means.

The history of the street discloses both tragedy and mystery. In the fall of 1884, shortly after a torch light parade, given in honor of the first election of President Grover Cleveland, had passed the home of Mrs. Joseph Haswell, a most distressing accident occurred. Miss Emily Haswell in extinguishing the illumination at her home accidentally stepped over the fire which set her clothing ablaze. She was attired in a dress of white, of light texture. In a moment the young lady was enveloped in flames. Attorney Milt Morris, who resided across the street, saw the accident and ran with others to her home. He threw his coat over her and extinguished the flames; the young lady who was a most beautiful girl, died the same evening.

Another mystery was the disappearance of David Ensworth, of S. Pickaway-st., a maker of saddles.

His body was later found in a cistern. Whether it was an accident or a suicide was never determined.

"HILLS OF PERIL"

Buck Jones, known to about everyone, comes to the Grand tonight in "Hills of Peril." A flying leap on his mount—a dash across the plains with his revolver in his hands—and the oldest hunt in the world is on—the hunt of one man for another.

"BEAU SABREUR"

Intrigue, love and adventures on the vast Sahara desert offer something spectacularly and refreshingly attractive in the line of motion picture entertainment at the Metropolitan Theatre, where Paramount's new production, "Beau Sabreur," is being shown.

With a cast of sterling quality, unusual direction and more unusual photography, "Beau Sabreur" comes to this city as a companion of even greater magnitude, to "Beau Geste." Both were from the pen of Percival Christopher Wren, whose stories of the desert and the Foreign Legion have proved best sellers everywhere.

Gary Cooper plays the role of Major Henri de Beaujeu, a dashing and virile young Frenchman who vows he will never look at a woman—and then meets a woman who is ideal in the part, and gives a fine performance of the handsome soldier-sheik of the burning sands. Evelyn Brent is the girl, Mary Vanbrugh, who becomes mixed up in a series of thrilling adventures with Cooper. Noah Beery, William Powell, Mitchell Lewis, Roscoe Karns, Joan Standing, Arnold Kent, Frank Reicher, Raoul Paoli and Oscar Smith are other members of the strong cast.

MISS DUVALL IS MARRIED

The marriage of Miss Marie Duvall of Atlanta, Ohio, and Mr. Charles J. Schwemley, of New Washington, marked by simplicity and beauty took place Monday afternoon at the home of the bride. The Rev. Norman Ench, of Petersburg, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The procession entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bride and bridegroom kneeling at the altar, which was backed with ferns and pink roses. The bride wore a gown of ivory and lace. She carried a gorgeous bouquet of white roses and baby's breath with lace. Her only attendant was Miss Sara Bonham, who was attired in a frock of green and white, carrying an arm bouquet of pink roses and lilies.

The bride's brother, Mr. Howard Duvall, acted as best man.

The color scheme of green and white was beautifully carried out in the decorations and in the dining room where a three course dinner was served immediately following the ceremony.

The bride attended Atlanta high school and Ohio university and later taught in the Atlanta schools.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Capital university, is at present employed as mathematics teacher at St. John's academy, at Petersburg, W. Va.

After a lake trip, they will make their home at New Washington, Ohio, and in the fall they will reside at Petersburg, W. Va.

The guests were as follows: Mrs. A. H. Schwemley and daughter, Mary, Mr. and Mrs. George Schwemley, all of New Washington; Mr and Mrs. Paul Schwemley and

FISH BY PLANE

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Airplane transportation to deliver live fish for propagation purposes was resorted to recently for the first time by the bureau of fisheries. Twenty cans of live trout were flown without mishap from Northville, Mich., to Dayton, O., where they were deposited in streams near Wright Field. Plane transportation is said to lessen the chances of loss because of confinement in containers and accidents during delivery.

CHICAGO ABUZZ OVER BIG FIGHT ON THURSDAY

ACE HUDKINS
AND MICKEY REST TODAY

Ten-Round Battle For Middle-weight Crown Promises To Be A Thriller

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)
CHICAGO, Ill., June 20.—A two-sided, bulging jawed Jersey man who wears the middleweight crown, and a dancing-haired youth from Nebraska who aims to knock him out from under is rested today from their strenuous training sessions, while Chicago buzzed with fight talk unparalleled since the Dempsey-Tunney battle of 1927.

Both Mickey Walker, the champion, and Ace Hudson, the ambitious challenger, are fit and ready for tomorrow night for a 10-round engagement at the big White Sox ball park. Walker is in particularly, one might say, unusually fine shape, whereas the wise money—of which Chicago has plenty—makes the titleholder favorite at odds of 8 to 5. Hudson's backers were beginning today to suggest that 2 to 1 would be more appropriate odds, although there are many who bank on the challenger's youth, fire and aggressiveness.

The identity of the third man in the ring tomorrow night remains a mystery, but it is safe to predict that the Nebraska wildcat must spread Mickey on the canvas and back him down if the title is to change hands.

At that, there is a fair chance of Hudson doing so, for the pace is bound to be furious from the first going. That the Ace will force the fighting at the start seems reasonably certain. Some believe he can tire Walker out and win going away in the last five rounds.

The most reasonable assumption, however, is that Walker will catch Hudson just as Sammy Barker did, but with punches carrying about 20 pounds more weight behind them. Tearing in wide open, as Ace does, is likely to prove fatal to hectic negotiations when the opponent is as strong and keen a battler as Mickey Walker.

The champion is below the division weight limit on this his day of rest. He will enter the ring weighing between 150 and 160 pounds tomorrow night. Hudson weighs 154 today, and it is not likely to be any heavier when he enters the ring.

To say that Chicago is excited about the affair is to put the premise mildly. In less polite circles of which the city regularly has its share, the fight overheard-owns in interest the forthcoming national open golf championship, for which 150 of the world's best linksmen have gathered at Olympia field on the southern edge of town.

Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter, who has had his ups and downs in the fight business and who was especially down when it came to putting on a heavyweight championship show, seems to have made a ten-strike this time. Fight fans had purchased some $150,000 worth of tickets up until last morning, with every indication of a comfortably heavy last-minute sale. Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, insisted today that the sale would reach $250,000, but Kearns is a bit of an optimist.

And if Mullen crosses $175,000 the promoter will be happy.

ANOTHER FAMOUS YOUNGSTER

CH. GIANTS' 19 YEAR-OLD MARVEL.

WHY SHOULDN'T I BE PROUD OF MY YOUNGSTER?

PROGRAM IS AS GOODY OVER MEL AS TH' AVERAGE GUY IS OVER HIS OWN FIRST BORN KID.

Ed Walsh, Jr., whose daddy was once the "Iron Man" of the American League, has signed up with the Chicago White Sox, and great things are expected from the youngster, even in this his first season.

Notre Dame's baseball team recently swept through the East, less devastating, perhaps, than some of the football teams which have come out of South Bend, but still good enough to defeat Harvard, 20 to 1. Young Ed Walsh, a replica of his distinguished daddy, as far as size and comparative effectiveness is concerned, pitched that game.

A series of nine straight victories has been credited to young Ed, this year, resulting in the midst of some of the American League's most potent runs of 1928, when "Big Ed" the elder won 42 games and lost but 15.

One of the anomalies of baseball always will be the White Sox when they were the "hitless wonder" under Eddie Rynn. Defensive baseball, such as has carried the Cincinnati Reds to the top of the National League race during the current season, was the forte of the White Sox more than two decades ago. And Big Ed Walsh was one of the mainstays of the pitching staff, hurlers who kept the team at the top of the American League standing despite the weakness of the Sox attack.

Big Ed's Pappy, Young Ed Walsh, who wound up his college career in a large oratory at Notre Dame this spring, is fully on his feet as his pappy was during the latter's prime, weighing 194 pounds but looking somewhat lighter for the job. He is tall and comparatively slender.

Ed, the Ed of the White Sox in their best days, has been coaching Ed, Jr., and another son named Bob Walsh, a younger brother in the mysteries of pitching. The latter has a couple of more years to play for Notre Dame and may become even more famous than the ambitious boy who now joins the Chicago White Sox. At 19, with 20 that the odds of 1928 are concerned, however, for it is rare indeed for a boy to step from a college team to become a major league player.

In the college ranks, for instance, Walsh was somewhat of a hitless wonder in a pitcher. This never went on in the majors. Once it was discovered that Ed Walsh could even a baseball he was dropped for the rest of his career from doing any hurling, a capable left handed pitcher was lost to posterity. When Harvard in the game which established young Ed

Walsh's fame in the East, he not only held the Crimson nine to seven scattered hits, but scored four runs himself, driving out the one home run of the game.

Big Ed's Record Stands. A bewildering spit ball was one of the original "Big Ed" Walsh's best bets. But despite the fact that experts will tell you that spit ball pitching takes a lot out of a pitcher, it will be recalled that Walsh, in 1903, pitched 66 games for the White Sox, a total of 464 innings. This remains a major league record, despite the "iron men" among the hurlers who have come along since.

In that season, Walsh served his spitter, his fast one and his curve to 1,690 batters, another record. Nine years later, Grover Cleveland Alexander no mean "iron man" himself, served them up to 159 and more feverish batters and still was good enough to set a record for the National League.

The Chicago White Sox badly need someone to lift them out of the pit. It may be that they will find young Ed Walsh the inspiration the club has lacked thus far this season.

It is understood there are six applicants for the job.

California Races To New Record, Defeating Columbia On Stormy Hudson

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—The golden bear of California today stood guard over the 1928 intercollegiate rowing championship.

Not in all the 24 years of the intercollegiate regatta has there been as brilliant a triumph on the water as took place on the storm-tossed Hudson yesterday when California rowed through semi-darkness and driving rain to lift the championship from Columbia and establish a new record of 18 minutes, 35 4-5 seconds for the four mile race.

It was the first victory ever scored by California in the intercollegiate championship. Three times before, in 1920, 1926 and 1927, California came east but failed. They were favorites last year but could finish no better than third.

But all disappointments, heartaches and defeats were cast overboard into the black waters of the Hudson as the big bronze men from the west pulled their shell over the finish line three quarters of a length in front of Columbia in the fastest time ever recorded in the regatta.

Ky Ebright, the slim, smiling Californian coach who took over his present position in 1924, is the power behind the sudden burst of California strength. California entered the race second favorite to Columbia, but no one expected any such triumph as the brawny westerners registered.

Superbly trained by Ebright, a former Washington coxswain, California rowed the heart out of Columbia, conceded before the race to be one of the best combinations assembled in years.

After passing the two mile mark, the race was a duel affair between California and Columbia. Up until the two mile post, Cornell, sporting like mad, made all the running and just before reaching the two mile point held a length advantage over Columbia.

Off to a miserable start, California came on first and at the 2 1-2 mile point was trailing Columbia by an eighth of a boat length. California took the lead shortly afterward and remained in the van until the finish, except for a brief span near the towering suspension bridge, when Columbia held sway.

California stood off a courageous challenge by Columbia in the last long mile and went on to win, pulling away. Washington finished third, Cornell fourth. Navy fifth, Syracuse, sixth, and Pennsylvania seventh.

The former record of 18:53 1-2 made by Cornell in 1901, was broken by the first three crews to finish—California, Columbia and Washington. Columbia's time was 18:38 and Washington's 18:46. Even Pennsylvania, which finished last, in 19:24 3-5 bettered the winning time of Columbia last year, Washington in 1926 and Navy in 1925.

RISKO CONFIDENT

HE'LL WIN FIGHT
NEW YORK, June 20.—Facing nearly a 50-pound disadvantage in weight and about six inches in height, Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker, will meet the most recent "black menace" when he faces George Godfrey, giant ne-bittsburgh 26, in a 10-round bout at Ebbets Field tonight.

Risko seemed little concerned over the additional weight of his opponent and in the usual pre-battle statement said he would "put the black menace business into bankruptcy."

Moving Of Old Land Mark For New Theatre Recalls Pinkney-st 50 Years Ago

Prominent Citizens Have Always Lived On Thorofores; Tragedy Befell It, Too

By HARRY E. WEILL.

The moving of the old landmark on Pinkney-st. to make room for the new movie theater, has brought up a flood of reminiscences of the street on which this old house was located.

Seventy years ago the street was named after the northeast section of the circle was squared. The southwest portion of the circle was squared in 1838, 11 years afterwards. In 1849, the northeast portion of the circle was laid out. There was a jog in the plan. The area of the block between Main and N. High-st. was too large, and a street one block long was decided on. A street running through from Scioto to Court-st. was made in the blue print, and it was named after the Vice-President, Charles A. Pinkney who shared the office with President James Madison, back in 1808.

The letter C, was dropped when the new street signs were put up, and the mistake has never been corrected.

The street was a sea of mud when it rained, as there was no storm water sewer put in until it was paved. This was done in 1913, and both storm and sanitary sewers were put in to correct the trouble.

In the past 50 years the street has become considerable of a thoroughfare, nearly every occupant on the street have become lot owners, and it is one of the city's best residence streets.

Starting at the corner of Court and Pinkney, the building now occupied by the Citizens Telephone office, was built by William B. Thrall, at one time owner of the Union-Herald. Following the death of his wife, Mr. Thrall sold the building to Sewell Nightengale, father of Mrs. O. H. Dunton.

Mrs. Sophia Crouse, widow of Nelson Crouse, and an aunt of Mrs. L. B. James occupied the house for a few years. Dr. L. C. Vernon and family also occupied the residence. It finally became the property of Lyman Hoffman Sr., and he sold it to the telephone company.

The house which was moved away last week was owned by Philos Rodgers, father of Mrs. James Baldwin. It became the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Morris, foster parents of Mrs.

Irwin Boggs; Philip Warner owned the next house. This home was occupied also by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Van Houten for a number of years. It is now owned by Mrs. W. E. Pickens.

T. K. Brunner owned the next house west. It was purchased some few years ago by Geo. Presler. Bernard Kathe, a furniture dealer, owned the next two story frame. It was sold to W. H. Pontious, who erected the present beautiful house thereon. The next two houses across the alley were owned and occupied by Joseph Howard and family. The frame on the alley was occupied by a Mrs. Pierce for a number of years. The next house to the Howard home was built by William Morris, member of the distilling firm of Morris, Steele and Company, and in later years was occupied by William Bolin and his sister, Mrs. Joseph Haswell and family, and later ex-Mayor Geo. R. Haswell and family. The building was sold to T. O. Gilliland, who removed and replaced it with a more modern house.

Charles E. Morris built the next house, now occupied by Miss Gertrude Gearhart. The corner house facing Scioto-st. was built by Henry N. Hedges, Jr. Here lived George Gearhart for a number of years and later, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Radcliffe. This house is now owned by Oscar Howard. Across the street on the north side of Pinkney facing Scioto is the beautiful French Chateau, occupied by Dr. H. Demuth Jackson and family. This site was owned by his grandfather, Henry Demuth. George Gregg and family also resided in this house for a number of years.

Across the alley was the home of Mrs. Sarah Gephart, great-grandmother of Postmaster George P. Foreman, with her resided three daughters, Misses Catharine, Susan and Ann. The house later came into the hands of Lyman Hoffman, her son-in-law.

The next house east was owned and occupied by William Bauder and family. Wesley McCollister owned and occupied the next house. Colonel H. H. Sage, the eccentric jeweler occupied the adjacent house, a brick. On this site the present modern home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Mader stands. Joseph Parkhurst and family occupied the lot on the alley. Later the family of James Duffy lived there.

The site was purchased by Milt Morris who erected a two story brick, and after a residence there for a number of years, sold it to Professor and Mrs. M. C. Warren. The next three houses east of the alley were owned by William Ensworth, John Brunner and Jess D. Ward. The house across the alley, now owned by Walker Baughman was built by Mrs. Mary S. Florence. This house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stevenson.

The site on which the Grand Opera house stands, was originally owned by Keith Foreman. The family of Jason Case also lived here. In later years John McCrady and family occupied the old corner.

Pinkney-st. was always considered the quality street by its residents, and even today it is occupied by people of means.

The history of the street discloses both tragedy and mystery. In the fall of 1884, shortly after a torch light parade, given in honor of the first election of President Grover Cleveland, had passed the home of Mrs. Joseph Haswell, a most distressing accident occurred.

Miss Emily Haswell in extinguishing the illumination at her home accidentally stepped over the fire which set her clothing ablaze. She was attired in a dress of white, of light texture. In a moment the young lady was enveloped in flames. Attorney Milt Morris, who resided across the street, saw the accident and ran with others to her home. He threw his coat over her and extinguished the flames; the young lady who was a most beautiful girl, died the same evening.

Another mystery was the disappearance of David Ensworth, of S. Pickaway-st., a maker of saddles. His body was later found in a cistern. Whether it was an accident or a suicide was never determined.

A Statistician, in a daily newspaper—"There are 1,200 different kinds of face powder and 650 varieties of rouge on sale in the United States."

"HILLS OF PERIL"

Buck Jones, known to about everyone, comes to the Grand tonight in "Hills of Peril." A flying leap on his mount—a dash across the plains with his revolver in his hands—and the oldest hunt in the world is on—the hunt of one man for another.

"BEAU SABREUR"

Intrigue, love and adventures on the vast Sahara desert offer something spectacularly and refreshingly attractive in the line of motion picture entertainment at the Metropolitan Theatre, where Paramount's new production, "Beau Sabreur," is being shown.

With a cast of sterling quality, unusual direction and more unusual photography, "Beau Sabreur" comes to this city as a companion of even greater magnitude, to "Beau Geste." Both were from the pen of Percival Christopher Wren, whose stories of the desert and the Foreign Legion have proved best sellers everywhere.

Gary Cooper plays the role of Major Henri de Beaujeu, the dashing and virile young Frenchman who vows he will never look at a woman—and then meets Cooper is ideal in the part, and gives a fine performance of the handsome soldier-sheik of the burning sands. Evelyn Brent is the girl, Mary Vanbrugh, who becomes mixed up in a series of thrilling adventures with Cooper. Noah Beery, William Powell, Mitchell Lewis, Roscoe Karns, Joan Standing, Arnold Kent, Frank Reicher, Raoul Paoli and Oscar Smith are other members of the strong cast.

John Walters is responsible for the direction, and C. Edgar Schoenbaum photographed the picture.

"Jimmy" Walker, mayor of New York when Washington newspapers accuse him of keeping the President waiting—"I expect to be measured by my accomplishments and not by a time-table. I do more work than any man in this city."

MISS DUVALL IS MARRIED

The marriage of Miss Marie Duvall of Atlanta, Ohio, and Mr. Charles J. Schwemley, of New Washington, marked by simplicity and beauty took place Monday afternoon at the home of the bride. The Rev. Norman Ench, of Petersburg, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The procession entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride and bride-groom meeting at the altar, which was backed with ferns and pink roses.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and lace. She carried a gorgeous bouquet of white roses and baby-breath with lace. Her only attendant was Miss Sara Bonham, who was attired in a frock of green and white, carrying an arm bouquet of pink roses and irises.

The bride's brother, Mr. Howard Duvall, acted as best man.

The color scheme of green and white was beautifully carried out in the decorations and in the dining room where a three course dinner was served immediately following the ceremony.

The bride attended Atlanta high school and Ohio university and later taught in the Atlanta schools.

The bride-groom, a graduate of Capital university, is at present employed as mathematics teacher at St. John's academy, at Petersburg, W. Va.

After a lake trip, they will make their home at New Washington, Ohio, and in the fall they will reside at Petersburg, W. Va.

The guests were as follows: Mrs. A. H. Schwemley and daughter, Mary, Mr. and Mrs. George Schwemley, all of New Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schwemley and

Mr. M. C. Edwards and family, Mr. W. W. Bauhan and family and Mr. E.rough Graham and family attended a reunion at the home of Mr. Harvey Hill, of Darbyville Sunday.

Mr. Miller Buzzard died here Tuesday and was buried Thursday. Mrs. Mary Deyo of Springfield, was the week-end guest of Mrs. Clara Bauhan.

The W. C. T. U., met at the home of Mrs. Nelle Bauhan Tuesday. It was an all day meeting with a covered dish dinner. There were 90 present counting children.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartlett of Columbus, called on Mrs. Alma I. Hays Sunday. This is the first time Mrs. Bartlett has been able to be this far from home for almost a year. She is better than usual but far from well yet.

Mr. Funk spent last week with his daughter, Mrs. Rose Philipps. There were 147 at Sunday school last Sunday. Let's make it 150 next Sunday.

FISH BY PLANE

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Airplane transportation to deliver live fish for propagation purposes was resorted to recently for the first time by the bureau of fisheries. Twenty cans of live trout were flown without mishap from Northville, Mich., to Dayton, O., where they were deposited in streams near Wright Field. Plane transportation is said to lessen the chances of loss because of confinement in containers and accidents during delivery.

ATTEND SOCIAL

The Darbyville M. E. church will give a social Saturday evening at the township house. Strawberries, ice cream and cake will be served. 167-11.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Basalman's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure. That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort. That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Basalman's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine in the yellow package, at any good drug store. Price $1.

Model 700

Cleaning that tires you not at all... POSITIVE AGITATION

Are you one of the many women who never dare accept an invitation for the afternoon of cleaning day—whose strength is just enough for cleaning tasks—and no more?

The difficulty is not with you. Lighten your cleaning and you will find yourself with zest enough for outings every cleaning day.

The Hoover will give you this effortless cleaning. It removes more dirt per minute than any other cleaner. That means faster cleaning, easier cleaning, more thorough cleaning.

The Hoover is able to give you this faster, easier, deeper cleaning because of "Positive Agitation," which vibrates all the deep-buried, destructive grit to the surface. With this unmatched deep-beating are combined sweeping and suction, giving The Hoover an efficiency that begins where the ordinary vacuum cleaner leaves off.

The ability of The Hoover to remove more dirt per minute has been shown by repeated tests made under actual home conditions. We shall be glad to prove it to you on your own rugs. Because of the Hoover's outstanding superiority, you should be sure to see this test, before purchasing any cleaner. Telephone us today.

TWO CHAMBERS MEET HERE IN REAL SESSION

Business meeting and the visitors enjoyed the evening's program.

Mrs. Renick first read the following poem as an introduction:

In old Roundtown there's a band Of men, the best in all the land, When their forces they immerse, You can bet your hat and purse That they'll win — Chamber of Commerce.

For when they settle down to work They are never known to shirk — And when business is on the bum They can surely make things hum. So what's the use of feeling glum.

Now let's give ourselves a hand That we have this splendid band — For perhaps when we are down Chamber of Commerce will come around And make us safe and sound.

This recital was followed by a group of Negro dialect readings and the story of "The House With Nobody In It," by Joyce Kilmer.

As a finale, she gave the humorous story of Hiram's Housekeeping.

Mrs. Renick was followed by Rev. J. Lutz, who recited the story of a Midnight Murderer. (The Mosquito) which was well delivered.

Secretary Karl Herrmann gave notice of the election of officers and directors at the meeting of the chamber to be held Tuesday evening, July 2.

The following persons have been named by the nominating committee. This list of names may be added to the list before the next meeting.

Nominees for Chamber of Commerce:

For President:—J. R. Moecker, A. C. Moore, E. S. Nuding.

For Vice President:—F. E. Barnhill, George Fitzpatrick, Robert Wylie.

Treasurer:—Christian Schwarz, Joseph Burns, Joseph G. Wilder.

Directors:—F. A. Lynch, Thomas Jeffries, J. R. Wilson, L. T. Shaner, E. W. Lutz, K. J. Herrmann, Ed. Sencsbrannen, T. O. Gililand, R. L. Brehmer, J. D. Hummel, H. B. Colwell, H. W. Plura.

Four directors to be elected. Election, Tuesday, July 2.

OBITUARY

GEORGE S. RICHARDSON

George S. Richardson, son of Thomas and Susanna Harris Richardson, was born March 28, 1858, in Washington-twp., Pickaway-co., Ohio, and departed this life June 15, 1928, age 70 years, two months and 19 days.

Several months ago he contracted a serious illness, but he always was patient, kind and had a smile for every one.

Friday morning, just at the break of day his spirit took its flight to be at home where suffering and pain are known no more.

He was not a member of any church, but always a good neighbor to help those in need.

He leaves to mourn his loss the following: One sister, Mrs. Alice Hopy of Lorraine, who was not able to attend the funeral services because of illness, one brother, Charles L. Richardson of Columbus, O., and a cousin, Mary Jane Fitch, with whom he made his home, together with nephews and a host of friends all of whom will sadly miss him for his kindness.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock, Monday, June 24, at the home of Mrs. Alice Hopy, Lorraine, Ohio.

Interment will be in the cemetery at Lorraine, Ohio.

CITIES MORTGAGE HEAD ACQUITTED BY JUDGE DUNCAN

President Of Defunct Company Relieved Of All Civil Liability

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Harvey C. Smith, president of the defunct Cities Mortgage Co., today was freed of all civil liability in connection with alleged illegal dividends paid to him by the company, by payment of $25,000 to John A. Kelly, receiver for the company, an entry, approved by Judge Robert B. Duncan in common pleas court, showed.

Smith, former secretary of the company, received $17,500 in dividends on his stock, Kelly's entry said, and he was paid $7,500 in the hands of a receiver of the company.

BIBLE THOUGHT

GOD'S WONDERS—When a man's ways please the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him.—Prov. 16:7.

PRAYER—"God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform."

TWO DAYS ACROSS THE CONTINENT

One more marvel of modern times is about to be realized, through the plan for a combined railroad and airplane service running from New York to Los Angeles in 47 hours. There are plenty of people who will patronize this service, and without doubt in a few years it will become an ordinary feature of travel.

People are now living who can remember when it took months to cross the continent, and when the journey was hazardous in the extreme. The sands of the western deserts contain innumerable bones of hardy pioneers, who perished as the result of thirst or starvation or the assault of the wild Indians. And within a life-time this once almost impossible crossing is to be accomplished by regular passenger service in two days. People who say the world stands still do not take account of technical science.

THE ZONING IDEA

President Coolidge in a recent address, remarked on the value of the zoning plan, by which many communities divide their territory into districts, and keep each kind of building in the district where it belongs.

A person who buys or builds a nice home in a good neighborhood, wants to see the neighborhood kept about as it is. It frequently happens that after one has made such a purchase, some undesirable development occurs close by, which lowers the value of the property. A great many people have lost a great part of their savings in that way.

This is unfair to property owners and investors, and in buying homes, people often ask now if anything has been done about zoning, so that an investment in a home will be protected. When certain sections are laid out for business and industry, and certain ones for residences, people are encouraged to establish themselves permanently.

DODGE-CHRYSLER MERGER

Merger of the Dodge and Chrysler automobile companies is the biggest news the financial and industrial world have had for quite a while. It is followed by rumors one of which has it that this new giant corporation will eventually become a part of the giant General Motors family.

There seems to be no limit which the size of our large corporations will attain. It may be that in a few years there will be organizations that will make present-day giants such as A. T. & T., Ford, U. S. Steel and General Motors look small. Meanwhile, the man in the street is not worrying. His dollars today will buy more and better automobiles than ever before.

ABOUT THOSE TAXI METERS

Did you ever sit in a taxicab, watch the meter tick out the ever-rising toll, and mutter to yourself, "the darn thing's crooked?"

Probably you have—most of us have. But if you did, the chances are you accused the little mechanical fare-assessor unjustly.

Ralph W. Smith, inspector of weights and measures for the U. S. Bureau of Standards, has spent more than two years making scientific tests of taxi meters. Now he reports that most of them are very accurate and fair. The dishonest meter, he says, is the exception rather than the rule.

And that seems to settle that question.

YOUNG AUTOMOBILE OPERATORS

According to automobile statistics from Connecticut, the record of automobile drivers under 18 years of age as respects accidents, was better than that of the average driver. Many people have felt that boys and girls are commonly allowed to run cars at too early an age, but these figures seem to show that they are capable of driving.

The greatest danger on the road is not from the young drivers who feel their responsibility, but from older ones who have grown over-confident, and think their skill will pull them out of any situation into which their headlong driving may put them.

JUST A DOG

Just a dog
That looks at Me,
Wags his tail
Quite merrily,
Glad to be a friend
Of mine,
In the cold or
Bright sunshine,
In the damp of heavy
Rains,
When you body's torn
By pains,
When you feel you've
Lost a friend,
He will stick unto
The end,
Wags his tail and Licks your Hand,
Just like everything
Is grand;
Just a dog but just
The same
He will understand
His name
When you call on Him for help,
With his reassuring
Yelp
He will hasten to
Your side—
Dogs for friends
Have often
Died!

And what we mean to say
Is,
Friendship is a help
To man,
Part of Life's great
Earthly plan,
Probably dogs were Brought on earth
Just to teach us
This rebirth;
Friendly tail to Wag at you
When you're feeling
Mighty blue;
Glad to have him
Rub your knee
When you're filled
With misery.

Now a girl in an airplane has crossed the Atlantic. Perhaps the old people are right. Probably our young people are high flyers.

Wisconsin has given a degree to Lindy who was once ousted from the school because of "low grades." What really constitutes success today?

AND HER MOTHER'S GRAY HAIR—

Her lips are flaming red,
Her cheeks an orange hue,
Her eyebrows penciled black—
That's why her dad is blue.

Her skirt is far too short,
It's up around her neck,
But she thinks it's the sport
And doesn't mind, 'heck!

Lessee, is Tom Hefflin going to the Democratic convention, too?

That chap who said he would rather be right than wrong probably doesn't know what success means when you get in an argument with the wife and are smart enough to know when to quit talking, right or wrong.

Sometimes, it seems, there is more sense in being crazy than successful.

One long-distance contest that will probably never be staged is a dish-washing marathon.

Just wait a moment, we've forgotten the name of the Republican vice-president nominee already.

SYNOPSIS
A satchel containing $200,000 has been stolen from the Mercer National Bank. Rose Shannon, escaping from the stupefying attentions of Chuck White, finds the satchel in the street. A policeman arrests her on her way to return it. He takes Rose to the station. She is held as an accomplice when it is found that the satchel is empty. She is released a week later, but detectives trail her. Rose is met by Chuck, who on the pretext of befriending her takes her to the house of the Professor, leader of the gang of crooks involved in the robbery.

Perched on the long, carved table near the door leading into the Professor's private office, sat a girl, swinging her long, slender legs encased in sheer silk of the latest nude shade. Black patent leather shoes with thin spike heels gleamed in the soft illumination of the room. A squirrel coat, thrown back across the table, revealed a tight fitting dress of jade green, enhanced by numerous silver buttons down the front and along the sleeves. Heavy pendant earrings of emerald shone lustily against the yellowness of her heavy, bobbed hair.

"See anything yet?" Hemiway

He pushed her through the door, closing it quietly behind her.

motioned for the Mug to draw back the curtain.

"Nope." The Mug peeped through the slit at the side of the window, and allowed the tapestry to fall back into place.

"So you think this dope about Sergeant Cassidy having a line on the right gang is all a frame?" The Professor turned to Maurey. "I think so." Maurey nodded his head. "There have been no tips; no one's come near the girl to do anything for her; the sergeant's working only on spec, but personally I think he's got the right idea. He's only letting the moll go so that he can fall her. The dicks won't lose a moment's time after she's out." He spoke in a cultured voice that seemed in strange keeping with the vernacular of the underworld.

"Well, we've got to beat them to it." The Professor began striding up and down the room again. "You think there's no doubt but that this girl knows where that money is?" He stopped his pacing and stood in front of Maurey.

The stool-pigeon shook his head. "There are only two answers to that question," he replied. "Either the girl knows, or the person who planned the stick-up." He looked at the Professor from beneath his half-closed eyes. There was something speculative about his glance, and the Professor turned uneasily. How much did Maurey know? The underworld's underground railway carried even unspoken thoughts at times.

"How long 've I gotta park around this joint?" The girl on the table yawned, stretching her legs.

"You'll be through soon enough," the Professor answered briefly, resuming his pacing.

The girl yawned again, opened a large, square vanity case of green leather and held it up before her, scrutinizing herself in the mirror on the inside of the bag. She pulled out a large powderpuff, stained with rouge, shook it, fluffing the air with white dust, and applied it lavishly to her nose and chin. She wet her finger with her tongue and ran it over her eyebrows, and then moistened her carmine lips. Finally, she extracted a cigarette from a pack, lit it, and exhaled a white cloud of smoke.

"Hey! De're comin'!" The Mug, his eyes glued to a crack in the curtain, signalled to the others with a wave of the hand.

Suddenly the entire room seemed to come to life—an unusual life for the shop that was known through out the Tenderloin as a fence for only the highest grades of stolen property. The Professor donned a pair of horn-rimmed spectacles and picked up an old piece of carved ivory. With a quick gesture he slipped across the floor and threw open a door in the rear which led into a long hallway.

"Quick! The back way, Maurey!" He pointed down the corridor as the stool-pigeon slowly rose and made for the door. "Hello you—Bobby!" He beckoned to the girl, who jumped down from her perch, grabbing her hat, coat and bag. "Upstairs—you know the room." He pushed her through the door, closing it quietly behind her. "Sparrow—snap into it!" he ordered.

The Sparrow rose and began examining an old oil painting on the wall with most evident interest. He took it down, turned it over, looked for a signature. "De're comin' in," Mug warned, as the click of the lock sounded. "Dick's across de street!" He turned quickly and stood beside the Sparrow. Together the two began playing their little game of art connoisseurs, while the Professor stood fondling the piece of ivory with loving care.

Rose and Chuck halted in the doorway, surveying this peaceful scene of collectors of the beautiful at work. It was all that Rose had expected. There was an air of peace and quiet about the place, and it had a sort of musty, dusty odor that rightfully belonged to such a shop. There, too, pattering around his collection was a gentle-looking elderly man with glasses. For a moment this elderly man stared, then he set down the piece of ivory and hurried forward, lifting his glasses up and allowing them to rest on his forehead.

"Why, my dear boy!" The Professor greeted Chuck affectionately. "I didn't expect you back so soon. And this is the little girl, eh?" He turned a fatherly gaze on Rose, smiling kindly.

"Yes, this is Rose Shannon. Under the girl I told you about, this is my Uncle Robert, honey." Chuck introduced the two.

"I'm glad to meet you," Rose held out her hand, smiling up at the tall man shyly.

"And I'm glad to meet you, my dear," Hemiway answered, taking Rose's hand in both his own, and patting it gently. "Chuck's already told me so much about you—but I see that he didn't half begin to do you justice."

"Oh, Professor," Rose laughed, looking up at Chuck diffidently. "My, but this is a lovely place." Her gaze wandered about the room, taking in the old tapestries, the fine pieces of carving, the delicate cut vases. "Why, there's Mr. Sparrow," she exclaimed. At the sound of his name Sparrow turned and, at a sign from the Professor, came forward and shook hands with the girl. "Lo, kid," he greeted her. "Glad 't see you ag'in. How are ya?"

"I'm all right, Mr. Sparrow, thank you," Rose nodded.

"And this, my dear," the Professor motioned for the Mug to bring in a group, "is my old friend, Dr. Mukowski—another collector, like myself."

"Please 't meetcha," The Mug, following the lead of his companions, held out a thick, heavy paw and shook hands with the girl.

"How do you do, Dr. Mu—Mu—I'm afraid I can't say it," Rose laughed, embarrassed.

"Aw, dat's all right," Mug assured Rose heartily, backing away at a sign from the Professor, and taking up his study of the painting again.

"I guess we've got to make that twelve-thirty train, Uncle," Chuck turned to Hemiway. "That's about the best."

"It's five minutes past eleven, now," the Professor announced, drawing a large, gold watch from his pocket and holding it closer to his eyes to see the time. "Do you like the country, my dear?" he asked Rose.

"I just love it, Professor," Rose assented joyously. "I used to live in the country—before I came to New York. We had a farm, out in Iowa. It's been almost a year since I've been away. But we had to sell out, after my father died—there was no one but my mother and me. And then she died, and I've been all alone ever since. Oh, I'll be just like heaven to get back to green grass and trees and things again."

"Well, then, I'm sure you'll love my sister's place," the Professor responded heartily. "When Chuck told me about you, I decided right away that after this—er—little trouble of yours that a bit of farm life would do you a world of good. I suggested it to Chuck, and then we wrote my sister, and she'll be more than glad to have you both. She's alone a great deal of the time—she's been a widow for some years now."

"It sounds just wonderful," Rose breathed. "I can hardly believe it."

BEE-DRESBACH MARRIAGE

Miss Avis Grace Bee of Dayton and Mr. Judd H. Dresbach, of Hallsville, were quietly married on Monday evening, June 18, at 6 o'clock in the Methodist parsonage at Chillicothe, the ring ceremony being performed by Rev. Hickey. The ring was a duplicate of the groom's mother's engagement ring.

The bride, a charming young lady, is a graduate of the Chillicothe high school and later graduated from the O. W. U. She has been employed in the high schools at Dayton and Chillicothe.

The groom is a young farmer of sterling qualities. They were met at the door of the parsonage by their friends and placed in a dilapidated "Ford" decorated with all the wedding symbols, and escorted by the "Tin Pan Band," to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. God Dresbach, where a wedding supper was served, after which they returned to their newly furnished home on the Roll farm, where the bridegroom has been engaged in farming the past four years.

Their many friends, numbered by their acquaintances wish for them a happy and prosperous wedded life.

iness meeting and the visitors enjoyed the evening's program.

Mrs. Renick first read the following poem as an introduction:
In old Roundtown there's a band
Of men, the best in all the land,
When their forces they immerse,
You can bet your hat and purse
That they'll win — Chamber of Commerce.

For when they settle down to work
They are never known to shirk—
And when business is on the bum
They can surely make things hum.
So what's the use o' feeling glum.

Now let's give ourselves a hand
That we have this splendid band—
For perhaps when we are down
Chamber of Commerce will come around
And make us safe and sound.

This recital was followed by a group of Negro dialect readings and the story of "The House With Nobody In It," by Joyce Kilmer.

As a finale, she gave the humorous story of Hiram's Housekeeping.

Mrs. Renick was followed by Rev. J. Lutz, who recited the story of a Midnight Murderer. (The Mosquito) which was well delivered.

Secretary Karl Herrmann gave notice of the election of officers and directors at the meeting of the chamber to be held Tuesday evening, July 3.

The following persons have been named by the nominating committee. This list of names may be added to the list before the next meeting.

Nominees for Chamber of Commerce:
For President: J. R. Noecker, A. C. Moore, E. S. Neuding.
For Vice President: F. E. Barnhill, George Fitzpatrick, Robert Wylie.

Treasurer: Christian Schwarz
Joseph Burns, Joseph G. Wilder.
Directors: F. A. Lynch, Thomas Jeffries, J. R. Wilson, L. T. Shamer, E. W. Lutz, K. J. Herrmann, Ed. Sensesbrenner, T. O. Gulliland, R. L. Bremer, J. D. Hummel, H. B. Colwell, H. W. Plum.

Four directors to be elected.
Election, Tuesday, July 3.

OBITUARY

GEORGE S. RICHARDSON

George S. Richardson, son of Thomas and Susanna Haren Richardson, was born March 28, 1858, in Washington-twp., Pickaway-co., Ohio, and departed this life June 15, 1928, age 70 years, two months and 19 days.

Several months ago he contracted a serious illness, but he always was patient, kind and had a smile for every one.

Friday morning just at the break of day his spirit took its flight to be at home where suffering and pain are known no more.

He was not a member of any church, but always a good neighbor to help those in need.

He leaves to mourn his loss the following: One sister, Mrs. Alice Hoppy of Loraine, who was not able to attend the funeral services because of illness, one brother, Charles R. Richardson, of Columbus, O., and a cousin, Mary Jane Fields, with whom he made his home, together with nephews and a host of friends all of whom will sadly miss him, for his kindness.

Card Of Thanks

We desire to thank all friends and neighbors who helped during his sickness and death, also for the many beautiful flowers; Mr. Defenbaugh and son, for their kind service, Rev. Green for his consoling words, and the choir for the music.

Sister Alice Hoppy
Brother Charles Richardson
And Nephews.

CITIES MORTGAGE HEAD ACQUITTED BY JUDGE DUNCAN

President Of Defunct Company Relieved Of All Civil Liability

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Harvey C. Smith, president of the defunct Cities Mortgage Co., today was free of all civil liability in connection with alleged illegal dividends paid to him by the company, by payment of $25,000 to John A. Kelly, receiver for the company, an entry, approved by Judge Robert P. Duncan in common pleas court, showed.

Smith, former secretary of state, received $57,725 in dividends on his stock, Kelly's application said, and because Smith is now in the hands of a receiver, it was deemed best that the receiver accept $22,000 in cash and a $3,000 note Smith held against the company, as full payment.

Judge Duncan also approved acceptance by the receiver of $5,194.50 from the estate of C. H. Bishop, Centerberg, who was a director of the company from 1921 to 1924, in settlement of dividends received by the estate on Cities Mortgage stock.

First Circus Here With Wild Animals; Stage Big Parade

The first circus of the season paraded the Main drag" Wednesday morning. Two performances were booked for Wednesday, at 2 and 7 p. m., in the back yard of the Gilmore residence on S. Court-st. The tickets at 5 and 10 cents included a free pony ride, the general admission tickets selling for five and the reserved seats at 10 cents.

Ellen Bennett as the bare back rider, was at the head of the parade, and there were also queer animals—the only ones of their kind in captivity.

"Philly" Moore made a good Chinaman and Catherine Foreman was hardly recognizable as a clown. Horace Gilmore led a vicious looking dog that had to be held on a leash, and Charles Crawford went up and down the line selling tickets to the public.

Robert Rooney as advance agent, went ahead of the parade, into all the business houses along Main-st., informing the people that "The Elephants are coming." The performances will offer some acrobatic stunts, and some trained animal acts, and no doubt there will be pop-corn and pink lemonade for sale.

WILMINGTON HIT BY BIG TORNADO

WILMINGTON, O., June 20.—Central Ohio, digging out of the wreckage of Monday night's tornado, late yesterday was hampered by a deluge of rain accompanied by devastating bolts of lightning.

One person was seriously injured, several were stunned by electric shock, and more than a score of houses were blown down, fired by lightning, or badly damaged by a furious wind and electrical storm which swept this section of the countryside within an area of four miles.

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Louise Brooks, film actress, has been granted a divorce from Edna Sutherland, director, by the Superior Court here.

ROALD AMUNDSEN MAY BE LOST IN ARCTIC, REPORT

His Rescue Plane Missing For 40 Hours; Food Dropped To Noble

LONDON, June 20.—The silent Arctic held in its icy grasp today the answer to a second aviation mystery that threatened to become one of as poignant interest and gravity as that which surrounds the fate of the crew of the lost dirigible Italia.

Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, left Tromsø, Norway, at 8:10 p. m. Monday in the French Farman seaplane piloted by Commandant Rene Guilbaud, to fly to join in work of locating and rescuing the Italia's crew.

At midday, more than 40 hours after the plane's departure on a flight of not more than 700 miles at most, there had been no concrete news of the plane.

The Stockholm dispatch said Amundsen was in graver need of help than was the crew of the Italia, for disaster threatened him imminently.

A rumor that Amundsen had landed beside the encampment of Gen. Umberto Nobile had caused a joyous celebration in Oslo last night. The "news" was announced at restaurants, amusement parks and moving picture theatres and was received with cheers.

Today at Oslo as elsewhere there was gravest anxiety not only for Amundsen but—with the difficulties of rescue tragically apparent—for the three parties that comprise the crew of 16 of the lost dirigible.

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 20.—Wholly unconfirmed reports reached Kings Bay today that relief finally had been carried to General Umberto Nobile and five companions of the dirigible Italia—stranded since May 25 on a floating ice bar north of North East Land.

The unconfirmed reports said that seaplanes had sighted the little group, huddled together about a red silken tent, and had dropped food. No landing was made by the seaplanes, the reports said.

The group was located at 81.29 degrees north, these advices said.

HOOVER TO NAME NEW CHAIRMAN; NAME WITHHELD

Delegation From Kansas City Convention To Pass On His Choice Soon

WASHINGTON, June 20.—A new chairman of the Republican National committee will be selected today by Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee.

Announcement of the new chairman will be withheld, however, until Thursday or Friday, as Hoover will meet with a delegation of 24 from Kansas City convention at noon tomorrow and they must pass on his selection before it is made public.

Hoover, it was understood, will decide who he wants to direct the Hoover-Curtis campaign after a series of conferences today. He was scheduled to talk the situation over with James W. Good, Iowa, his pre-convention manager; Ralph Williams, Oregon, vice-chairman of the present national committee, and Secretary of Interior Work.

Work and Good are most-talked of among those for chairman. Senator Charles Curtis, vice-presidential nominee, has advised Hoover that any man he selects will be acceptable.

Hoover and Curtis are described by their friends as "in close accord and in perfect agreement" on all phases of organization and campaign procedure.

Meantime Hoover's "back-porch" campaign gained momentum. The commerce secretary is using the porch for most of his important conferences and leaders of the Republican organization call nightly at his S-st. home to be entertained on the porch.

water system. Another thing was the elimination of fire risk. Electricity superceded steam and the only fire in the plant is under the boiler, which is used for the heating of water. The boiler room is enclosed within brick walls.

The plant is an investment of $50,000, and employs eleven men. The C. M. Robinson Company of Columbus, installed the refrigeration system. Roy Young did the carpenter work, Jacob Gephart the roofing, A. J. Lytle the plumbing work, The Moffitt Electric Co., the wiring and installing of the motors. All the work was done under the supervision of state inspectors.

Mr. Smith, the owner, may well feel proud of the plant as it is a credit not only to his foresight and business acumen, but to the city as well. Out of town dealers in fresh meats can now avail themselves of a fresh supply of meats from a packing plant at home.

CIRCUS PERFORMER NOW IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Hugh Goldsberry tight wire performer is in the Lutheran hospital at Bemidji, Minn., following the accident Wednesday in which she fell to the ground fracturing both legs at the knee. It is feared that both joints will be permanently stiff.

The accident happened when the stakes pulled out of the ground as she started her long tooth slide. She fell to the ground and was unable to rise. She was hurried from the arena while the show continued.

WELCOME FLYERS

BREMEN, June 20.—(UP)—Hermann Koehl, Baron Gunther Von Huensfeld and Maj. James Fitzmaurice of the transatlantic airplane Bremen started for Hamburg today to attend a reception and continue on at once to a triumphant reception at Berlin.

AMERICAN WOMAN FLYER ON HUNT FOR NEW APPAREL

LONDON, June 20.—(UP)—A womanly instinct for chic appearance today seized Miss Amelia Earhart, who since Sunday has forgotten dress in the thrill of being the first woman to fly across the Atlantic.

She arrived in London yesterday, after a short flight from Burryport, Wales, to Southampton wearing the same flying costume she had worn since leaving Tresspass Bay, N. F., Sunday. Her entire personal effects included a tooth brush.

But today, with the first glorious celebration over, Miss Earhart thought of her dress. "I must go shopping early," she said, questioning location of shops where she might placate her womanly vanity. "I am dining tonight with Captain, the Hon. Frederick E. Guest and Mrs. Guest and now I possess only the clothes I am wearing."

The woman trans-Atlantic flyer was eagerly received when she arrived in London yesterday afternoon. A crowd of several hundred persons lined the sidewalks as she appeared before the Hyde Park hotel and cheered loudly as the tall young woman in flying costume entered the hotel.

FIVE MINERS DIE IN LAUREL MINE

LAUREL POINT, VA., June 20.—Five miners were killed and seven others injured in an explosion in the Laurel Point mine of the National Coal Co., today, according to officials of the company.

The explosion occurred in the shaft of the mine when 22 coal cutters were at work. The men escaped without injury. The seven injured men were taken to a Morgantown hospital. The extent of their injuries was not learned. The mine normally employed 135 men, but only the small crew of 22 men was at work at the time of the explosion.

BEE-DRESBACH MARRIAGE

Miss Avis Grace Bee of Dayton and Mr. Judd H. Dresbach, of Hillsville, were quietly married on Monday evening, June 18, at 6 o'clock in the Methodist parsonage at Chillicothe, the ring ceremony being performed by Rev. Hickey. The ring was a duplicate of the groom's mother's engagement ring.

The bride, a charming young lady, is a graduate of the Chillicothe high school and later graduated from the O. W. U.

She has been employed in the high schools at Dayton and Chillicothe.

The groom is a young farmer of sterling qualities.

They were met at the door of the parsonage by their friends and placed in a dilapidated "Ford" decorated with all the wedding symbols, and escorted by the "Tin Pan Band," to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Ged Dresbach, where a wedding supper was served, after which they returned to their newly furnished home on the Roll farm, where the bridegroom has been engaged in farming the past four years.

Their many friends, numbered by their acquaintances wish for them a happy and prosperous wedded life.

MRS. KLINE HONORS MRS. BLUNDELL

Mrs. Frank Kline Jr., will entertain Thursday night at 8 o'clock with a bridge party. Mrs. Charles Blundell, who was formerly Miss Helen Closson, will be the honor guest and the other guests will be former school friends of Mrs. Blundell.

COUPLE AT HOME NEAR FIVE POINTS

The marriage of Miss Iola Heffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Heffner, 1612 Thomas-ave., Columbus, to Mr. John Long, son of Mrs. Rice Long of Mt. Sterling, was solemnized at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, June 17. The Rev. Everett Cattell officiated using the beautiful double ring ceremony.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Francis Furniss, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Francis Furniss acted as best man. The wedding dress worn by the bride was of peach colored satin.

The ceremony was followed by a dinner at the home of the bride's parents, at which there were sixteen guests, members of the immediate family, and intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Long went to housekeeping immediately, in their home near Five Points, which had been newly furnished, where they will welcome their many friends.

MORNING BRIDGE IS DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The bridge-luncheon Tuesday to which Mrs. Frank Bennett was hostess, at her home on S. Court-st. was the first big morning party of the summer season. Thirty-two guests were invited for 10:30 o'clock for bridge. At 1:30 o'clock a three course luncheon was served by the hostess. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Charles E. Groce, and her daughter, Miss Ann Bennett.

Attractive prizes for bridge were awarded to Miss Martha Moore and Miss Helen Marion. Among the guests, those from out of town were: Mrs. Willard Story of Washington C. H.; Mrs. Foster Weldon, of Evanston, Ill.; and Mrs. H. Campbell McMordie, of Windsor, Ontario.

SOCIAL SESSION OF BRIDGE CLUB

The Misses Mary and Harriet Marfield entertained the social session of the Tuesday Evening Bridge club at their home on E. Main-st. Tuesday night at 6 o'clock. The club has 12 members and the social session is held every 12 weeks.

TO ENTERTAIN BRIDGE CLUB

Miss Miriam Ruggles will entertain the members of her bridge club Thursday night. Mrs. John Love Allen of Winchester, Ky., will be an out-of-town guest.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE AT DERBY

The Derby W. C. T. U., held its annual institute at the home of Mrs. Nelle Bauhan, June 12. About 70 members and visitors were present. The following program was given:

Song, "America." Devotionals, Rom. 12, Mrs. Alma Hayes; Victrola record, "Under His Wing." Discussion: "Why the 18th Amendment is the Greatest Health Measure Adopted by Any Nation," led by Miss Alma Hayes; discussion, "Bible in the Public Schools" by Miss Dorothy Minshall; reading, Miss Aileen Skinner.

Reports of departments followed. "Lead, Kindly, Light" played on the Victrola. Reading, Miss Aileen Skinner; noontide prayer, Rev. J. S. Tull.

Dinner was served in the old postoffice building and was enjoyed by all.

The afternoon program was as follows: Song, "Carry On." Devotionals, Rev. Mrs. Tull; discussion of the plan of work for the year, by Mrs. Lucy B. Price, county president; slogan this year, "Prohibition is the Best Method."

A playlet followed, given by Mrs. Alma Hayes, Mrs. Clara Bauhan, Mrs. Ethel Ridgway and Mrs. Bessie Long.

These guests spent a most pleasant afternoon and evening with music, and in taking pictures. Mr. Wogan received an array of very attractive gifts as birthday presents from his friends who as they departed wished him many returns of the happy day.

PICNIC SUPPER FOR MR. WOGAN

Mrs. Clayborn Wogan of near Kingston planned a surprise party for the celebration of her husband's 49th birthday anniversary. About 35 friends were invited, who came with baskets filled with delicious picnic food. The supper was served on the lawn of the Patrick place, where the table was decorated with pink, white and red roses, and centered with a particularly beautiful basket of pink roses and white and pink peonies, the gift of Mrs. Edward Mitchell.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Tignor and children, Mabel, Elsie and Tom, Mrs. Pearl Pride and three children, Mr. and Mrs. John Tignor Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tignor and three sons; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tignor and three children all of East Fultonham, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Loney Wilkin and daughter, Helen and sons, James and Billy, from Leesscor being Miss, Dorothy Adkins.

Dainty refreshments of frozen fruit salad on meringues and iced tea were served by the hostesses.
